ABOUT ME

Web developer with knowledge in both frontend and backend, in the process of consolidating myself as an excellent fullstack developer. I am a very self-taught person, always looking for personal and professional growth. I possess strong leadership, adaptability and communication skills, as well as excellent logic and problem solving skills. My main technologies include TypeScript, React, Next.js and Express.js. Although I focus primarily on web development, I also have knowledge in several areas of programming.
